For many aspiring professionals, a career in the railway sector promises stability, growth, and the chance to serve the nation. Among the various entry points, the conductor exam 6601stands out as a gateway to secure a position as an Assistant Conductor or Junior Assistant Conductor in Indian Railways. This exam, conducted by the Railway Recruitment Board (RRB), evaluates candidates on a blend of general aptitude, reasoning, and subject knowledge, ensuring that only the most capable individuals join the ranks of the country's rail workforce.

In this comprehensive guide, we will walk you through every aspect of the conductor exam 6601: from eligibility and syllabus to application steps and exam strategy. Whether you're a fresh graduate or a seasoned professional looking to switch careers, this article will equip you with the knowledge you need to ace the exam and secure your dream job in the railways.

What is the Conductor Exam 6601?

The conductor exam 6601is a competitive recruitment test for the Indian Railways' Assistant Conductor (AC) and Junior Assistant Conductor (JAC) posts. The exam is administered by the Railway Recruitment Board (RRB), a statutory body that manages recruitment across the rail network. Candidates who qualify through this exam are eligible to work in various departments such as Commercial, Ticketing, and Passenger Services, thereby playing a pivotal role in the day to day operations of the railways.

Exam Overview

The exam consists of a written test followed by an interview (in some cases). The written test is divided into two main sections: General Ability and General Knowledge (GAGK) for the JAC level, and General Ability, General Knowledge, and English Language for the AC level. The total marks and time allocated differ slightly between the two categories, but both tests aim to assess a candidate's overall aptitude, comprehension, and subject knowledge.

Eligibility Criteria

To sit for the conductor exam 6601, candidates must meet the following requirements:

- Nationality: Indian citizen.
- Age: 18–30 years for the Junior Assistant Conductor and 18–32 years for the Assistant Conductor.
- Educational Qualification:

  Junior Assistant Conductor: Graduate (any discipline) from a recognized university.
- Assistant Conductor: Graduate (any discipline) or a Diploma in any branch from a recognized institution.

Exam Pattern and Syllabus

Exam Pattern

The written test is conducted in two parts: Part I (General Ability and General Knowledge) and Part II (English Language, for AC candidates). Each part has a specific duration and marking scheme:

- Part I: 120 minutes, 120 marks (60 marks for General Ability, 60 marks for General Knowledge).

- Part II (AC only): 60 minutes, 60 marks (English Language).

All questions are multiple choice, with negative marking of 0.25 marks for each incorrect answer. No marks are awarded for unanswered questions.
